

List of current heads of state and government

This is a list of current heads of state and heads of government. In some cases, mainly in presidential systems, one leader is head of state and head of government. In other cases, mainly in semi-presidential and parliamentary systems, the head of state and the head of government are different people. In semi-presidential and parliamentary systems, the head of government (i.e. executive) role is fulfilled by the listed head of government and the head of state.

In one-party states, the ruling party's leader (e.g. the general secretary) is usually the de facto top leader of the state, though sometimes this leader also holds the presidency or premiership. In Afghanistan, Andorra, Iran, and Vatican City (Holy See), a clergy member also acts as the head of state. In Afghanistan, this is the Supreme Leader; in Andorra, this is the bishop of Urgell, Co-prince of Andorra; and in the Vatican City, this is the pope.

The list includes the names of recently elected or appointed heads of state and government who will take office on an appointed date, as presidents-elect and prime ministers-designate, and those leading a government-in-exile if internationally recognised.

Member and observer states of the United Nations

Colour key

- Green cells indicate leaders whose offices constitutionally administer the executive of their respective state/government.
- Blue cells indicate de facto executive leaders whose offices lack de jure constitutional power.

Note: Names in small font generally denote acting, interim, transitional, temporary leaders, or representatives and Italics represents designated and incoming leaders yet to assume power. Other notes and exceptions are provided at § Notes.

Notes

- I. The President of France and the French Co-Prince of Andorra are positions held by the same person.
- II. Charles III is separately and equally monarch of 15 sovereign states known collectively as the Commonwealth realms. In each of these states (with the exception of the United Kingdom, where he resides), he is represented at the national level by a governor-general.
- III. The high representative is an international civilian overseer of the Dayton Agreement with authority to dismiss elected and non-elected officials and enact legislation.
- IV. The three-member Bosnian presidency is the head of state collectively.
- V. While the position of Prime minister formally exists as head of government, it is not a very powerful position and the president serves as de facto head of government.
- VI. Constitutionally the President of China is only the state representative and not head of state but the two roles are functionally the same.
- VII. Former First Secretary and President Raúl Castro is also considered to be the de facto leader by some sources.
- VIII. Duties temporarily exercised by the Council of Ministers.
- IX. Head of Executive and de facto head of state.
- X. Acting Head of the Executive Branch except in matters directly related to the Supreme Leader.
- XI. The constitution of Japan does not define a formal head of state, but the Emperor by unwritten constitutional convention fulfills the functions and duties of this role.
- XII. The Governor-General of New Zealand also serves as governor-general in relation to Niue.
- XIII. The Transitional Sovereignty Council is the collective head of state of Sudan per the 2019 Draft Constitutional Declaration.
